Tiny Scanner

Do you need to scan documents while on the go? Consider the 11-ounce Strobe XP 100 scanner from Visioneer. Just load the included PaperPort 8.0 document-management software, plug the scanner into a USB port, and you're ready to scan documents at 600-dpi resolution with up to 36-bit color depth. ## Big Apple

Leave it to Apple to buck the smaller-is-better trend in laptops. Its PowerBook G4 is the first laptop to offer a generous 17-inch display. More firsts and finery include built-in Airport Extreme wireless networking, high-speed FireWire 800 connectivity, and a backlit keyboard with ambient light sensors.

PDA Cam

PDA style and a digital camera converge in Toshiba's PDR-T30. A 1.5-inch LCD touch-panel control makes operation of this camera a snap, while a point-and-shoot design with 3.2 million pixel CCD and an all-glass lens system with optical and digital zoom ensure great images.

ACDSee image editing, scene-select modes, and a built-in paint program are included. Toshiba PDR-T30, US$399;
