

Workforce Development Executive Leadership Accelerator Series

Brought to You by AHCCCS and ATD

AHCCCS has teamed with the Association for Talent Development—the foremost global expert in workplace learning and development—to provide a leadership event designed exclusively for senior executives to help healthcare business leaders align organizational culture with workforce capability. We know investing in your people is important and enables your employees to do their job with confidence, leading to an increase in employee commitment, retention, productivity, and profitability. Thought-provoking content from world-class speakers will help you create an innovative approach to leading at the intersection of talent development and workforce development. The series, developed specifically to address your learning priorities, will cover the most pressing topics challenging leaders today, including the business case for talent investment, organizational culture, engagement and retention, leadership and employee development, and the rapid evolution of labor and work.

AHCCCS is providing this unique opportunity at no cost to eligible Arizona Medicaid providers who deliver Home and Community Based Services (HCBS) to enrolled AHCCCS members.

The powerful and practical sessions will equip senior executives with valuable insights, tools, and takeaways.

Things to know:

- The series consists of five, 60-minute sessions spanning five weeks.
- Each session will be delivered by industry-leading keynote speakers in the workplace learning and development space.
- Register for and attend all five sessions—each will provide practical application for the topic covered and is not dependent on the other sessions.
- Sessions will be delivered virtually through application-focused presentations and live discussions with Q&A.
- Registrants will gain access to downloadable presentations, session recordings, and tools and resources for ongoing reference.
