The Talent Development Capability Model™

The framework you need to develop your learning plan and advance your career.

The Talent Development Capability Model is a research-backed framework that guides the talent development field in understanding what practitioners need to know and do to be successful, now and in the future. The model is a blueprint for impact for practitioners and their organizations, and it can be used by individuals and teams.

This future-oriented model, which can be personalized, sets a new standard for the field. It responds to those trends affecting talent development, such as digital transformation, data analytics, information availability, and partnerships between talent development and business.

Look for this icon on our course pages within this catalog to see which talent development capability areas each course aligns to.

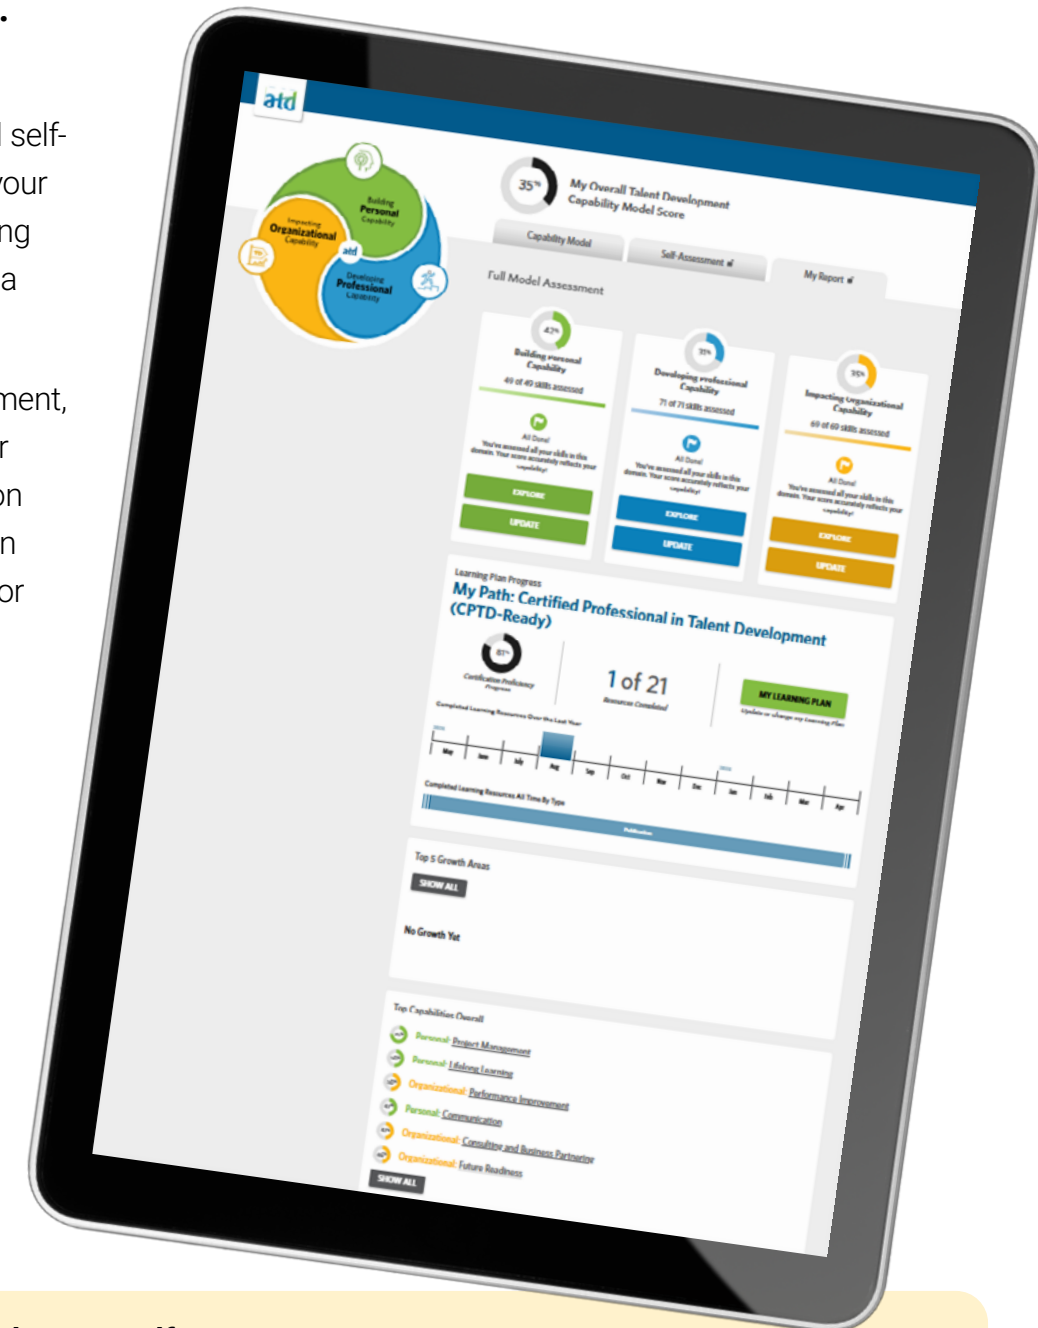

Assess Your Current Capability

Targeted. Personalized. Future-Focused.

The interactive Capability Model self-assessment helps you identify your current skills and create a learning plan to increase your impact as a talent professional.

Once you finish the self-assessment, you will be asked to choose your learning path. Paths are based on your current role, one you'd like in the future, or earning the APTD or CPTD certification.

Build a learning plan from ATD resources that will close knowledge and skill gaps to prepare you for the next step in your career: a new role, a certification, or long-term development. You can also add non-ATD resources to your plan.

Learn more about the model, take your self-assessment, choose a learning path, and create a learning plan at td.org/model.

ATD Master Programs

Show employers and peers that you’re at the top of your game by earning an industry-recognized designation. These advanced, assessment-based programs blend proven theory with practical application to help you excel.

Join a dynamic cohort and an expert facilitator in an eight-week, blended learning experience that combines self-paced online work with highly interactive live sessions—online or in person.

When you complete the program, you’ll also receive a complimentary certificate program* to continue your professional growth.

*See program pages for exclusions.

ATD Master Instructional Designer® Program

Prove your ability. Elevate your design. Develop effective learning solutions.

Evaluate real-world projects and work with expert facilitators to master the instructional design skills required to create impactful learning solutions.

The role of an instructional designer is evolving, expanding, and becoming more in demand than ever. Once seen as planners of learning events for typical classroom programs with a short set of defined tasks (such as analyzing needs, writing learning objectives, and evaluating learning programs), instructional designers now need an expanded skill set. These now-essential skills include business acumen, consultative approaches, design approaches based on learning sciences, and technological expertise. Designers must pivot between designing for multiple modalities such as face-to-face, e-learning, and virtual as well as implement learning solutions via multiple media streams such as e-learning modules, learning management systems, podcasts, mobile apps, videos, infographics, and animated shorts. Armed with a broader skill set, an instructional designer has the flexibility to be a jack-of-all-trades and a vital strategic resource for organizations.

WHY YOU SHOULD ATTEND

- Develop and demonstrate mastery of instructional design through a multipart, real-world project, including individualized feedback and analysis.
- Receive personalized feedback from your facilitator and peers.
- Accelerate your pathway toward achieving the APTD® or CPTD® certification.

To support ongoing professional development, ATD master program registration includes a complimentary course elective. Take the ATD certificate program of your choice following successful completion of your ATD master program. Exclusions apply.

ATD Master Performance Consultant™ Program

*Analyze performance gaps. Deliver effective solutions.

Talent development professionals are often asked to design and deliver training to address performance issues in the workplace. But what if training isn't the answer? A performance consultant thinks of training as one of many options to solve performance problems. A performance consultant uses a systematic approach to find the root causes of performance gaps, then recommends and implements solutions to address those gaps. This advanced course gives you everything you need to master a performance consulting approach in your work and make a bigger impact in your organization.

Whether you hold the formal title of performance consultant or not, the skills you learn and focus on in this course will elevate your ability by giving you a systematic and reliable approach you can use on the job to address performance issues. You will have the opportunity to assess your capabilities against key performance consulting competency areas and roles to determine your strengths and development opportunities.

ATD has been a leader in human performance improvement (HPI) for more than 20 years, and ATD's Performance Consulting Model and the ATD Performance Consulting Framework are the foundation of this course. Gain practical experience applying proven tools and methodologies to real-world performance improvement situations.

WHY YOU SHOULD ATTEND

- Make a bigger impact in your role and elevate your status as a TD professional by learning the techniques and tools of a master performance consultant.
- Access ATD's Performance Consulting Model and Performance Consulting Framework, a step-by-step guide that takes you through the performance consulting process from beginning to end.
- Accelerate your pathway toward achieving the Associate Professional in Talent Development (APTD®) or Certified Professional in Talent Development (CPTD®) certification.

To support ongoing professional development, ATD master program registration includes a complimentary course elective. Take the ATD certificate program of your choice following successful completion of your ATD master program. Exclusions apply.

Consulting Skills Certificate

Build your credibility as a trusted consultant.

ATD’s Consulting Skills Certificate provides you with a five-phase consulting model—rooted in a performance-based approach that prioritizes results over activities—that you can use to diagnose needs, establish goals, and achieve desired performance outcomes for your learning projects.

Together with an expert facilitator and a class of your peers, you will explore how to be successful as a consultant. Collaborating in small groups, you will follow a case study from start to finish, apply skills from each phase of the consulting model to practice consulting scenarios, solve problems, role-play meetings, try out checklists, and practice making decisions consultants make every day.

WHY YOU SHOULD ATTEND

- Move from order taker to true business partner by applying an ATD-exclusive model, techniques, and tools to successfully consult with organizations to implement talent development projects.
- Maximize success strategies with internal and external clients, including working across organizational boundaries, providing feedback to senior leaders, and gaining buy-in.
- Evaluate your baseline consulting skills, and identify your developmental needs as a consultant.

Measuring Return on Investment Certificate

Use ROI to demonstrate the real value of talent development.

During this certificate program, you will learn to demonstrate and communicate with credibility the impact and ROI of your initiatives using the globally recognized ROI Methodology, developed by the ROI Institute, Inc. The ROI Methodology offers a comprehensive, systematic approach to demonstrating value for money invested in all programs, projects, and initiatives. Learn and practice techniques to isolate the direct effects of your programs to improve business measures, convert impact measures to money, identify important intangibles, and calculate ROI. Uncover how to use this data to communicate the need for and make better decisions about talent development investments to improve organization performance. As a participant of this course, you will get a free e-book, ROI Basics, 2nd Edition.

WHY YOU SHOULD ATTEND

- Be able to apply the ROI Methodology end-to-end back on the job to measure the impact of your talent and organization development solutions.
- Link your talent development program objectives to business results to gain visibility, credibility, and future investment from senior leadership.
- Work through a complete evaluation plan in the course for one of your own programs, with guidance from expert facilitators who are true evaluation practitioners.

Evaluating Learning Impact Certificate

Demonstrate the results of your talent development investments.

Learn the basics of evaluation design, including how to select appropriate strategies and measurement tools, how to collect and analyze data to show the value of investments, and how to establish and communicate evidence to demonstrate the effectiveness of your learning, development, or human resource initiatives. This evidence may include measures of how participants reacted to, learned from, and applied what they learned and how such evidence impacts targeted organization business goals.

WHY YOU SHOULD ATTEND

- Develop a solid foundation to measure the success of any talent development program or solution.
- Help your organization shift from activity-based to results-based talent development programs.
- Build a credible business case to stakeholders and leaders for learning investment, and, ideally, increased evaluation in your organization.

Designing Training Videos Certificate

Design training videos that promote engagement, learning, and knowledge transfer.

Drawing on both video psychology and learning theory, the course takes you through a step-by-step planning process for structuring learner-centered videos. As part of the experience, you will design and prepare a video for production and a rough cut for viewing. You will explore how video works as a modality—applying techniques to keep viewers' attention, ensuring your message is quick and easy to understand, and finding ways to structure content so it's easy to remember. You will learn visual storytelling skills and how to write video scripts. This program focuses on the design considerations for creating training videos. If you are interested in the actual creation and production of video, consider enrolling in the Filming & Editing Training Videos Certificate. These two programs are complementary and, in combination, cover the complete video creation process.

WHY YOU SHOULD ATTEND

- Add video design skills to your instructional design and facilitation toolkit.
- Design training videos that promote effective learning and maximize knowledge transfer.
- Apply techniques from film and television best practices to engage the viewer.
- Leverage video skills to reach dispersed audiences, scale communication, and show instead of tell important concepts in learning experiences.

Human Performance Improvement Certificate

Enhance performance with a systematic and results-based approach, driven by business needs.

With this foundation in HPI, you can begin to take your TD work beyond learning and development projects to operate as a strategic partner with your organization to identify solutions that improve business outcomes (like reducing costs, saving time, and increasing customer satisfaction). Knowledge and skills gaps account for only a small portion of performance-related issues in the workplace. This program will help you identify other potential performance enablers, such as motivation, managerial support, technology, resources, organizational structure, and processes. Leaving these factors out of your solutions could mean you are minimizing your potential impact by creating programs that don't truly address the root of the problem.

WHY YOU SHOULD ATTEND

- Take the first step to becoming a performance consultant by building a foundation in HPI principles.
- Discover a step-by-step, systematic process to determine performance gaps, and create solutions to address those gaps.
- Learn to better analyze organizational needs so that you can propose solutions that go beyond training as a one-size-fits-all approach.

This interactive program puts you in the role of videographer, empowering you to create quality media for your learning programs—on your own, quickly, and cost-effectively. The focus of this program is on video production, both filming and editing, using only a smartphone and freely available editing software. Learn to frame and capture crisp footage, make it flow, and edit content into a polished training video that maximizes learner engagement. This program focuses on the process of creating and producing training videos. If you are interested in the design of training videos, consider enrolling in the Designing Training Videos Certificate. These two programs are complementary and, in combination, cover the complete video creation process.

WHY YOU SHOULD ATTEND

- Create professional-quality video assets to support your training and workplace learning initiatives.
- Gain practical video production skills that can be immediately applied to your own projects.
- Use proven techniques and an efficient process to film, review, and edit video footage.
- Save budget and time by eliminating the need to outsource video production.

Training Design and Delivery Certificate

Design accurately. Deliver flawlessly. Transform mindsets.

Are you ready to advance your career as a talent development professional? Get started with this fast-paced training design boot camp that will build your foundational skills in both instructional design and training and facilitation, all in one program.

The course kicks off with an overview of the ADDIE model for instructional design and then walks you through each phase of the design process. During the first half of the course, you will learn how to apply the model’s tools and principles using a human performance improvement approach.

The second half of the program introduces the training cycle. You will learn best practices and the latest techniques for each step of the cycle and have an opportunity to practice your facilitation skills and receive feedback.

WHY YOU SHOULD ATTEND

- Access two certificates in one and accelerate your learning! Material from ATD’s Instructional Design Certificate and Training & Facilitation Certificate are provided in this single five-day experience (instead of six).
- Build a foundation in core instructional design methods and activities: conducting a needs assessment, developing learning objectives, and evaluating the impact of your training initiatives.
- Apply effective facilitation techniques to engage participants, create an effective and positive learning environment, and manage classroom challenges.

NEW Developing Business Acumen

Understand important business concepts to drive strategic TD initiatives.

Business skills are essential for today’s talent development (TD) professionals. Sometimes TD professionals fall into the role of “order-taker” in their organizations, receiving and executing training requests even when training is not the solution. To be seen as strategic business partners rather than order-takers, TD practitioners must understand the organizations they serve, the industries in which they operate, and the strategies that drive results. This workshop equips you with the tools and practice to develop and apply business skills in your daily work.

When you take the time to determine business goals and the associated learning objectives for a training initiative, you can ensure that all stakeholders are aligned about what you're trying to accomplish, your learners know why they are taking the course, and you have a clear understanding of how to make it all happen.

Assessing Learning Content

This course will explore these three approaches, along with how to assess content to make sure it aligns with your organization's objectives.

Developing Design Documents

In this course, you'll learn how and why to use design documents to start your projects off right.

Working With SMEs to Curate and Create Content

In this course, you will learn how to work collaboratively with SMEs and explore how to make content decisions that align to the learning objectives.

Selecting Delivery Methods and Media

Any given method can be supported by a variety of delivery media and technology, so it is important to understand the considerations for choosing the right methods, media, and technology for specific learning environments and modalities.

Designing and Developing Learning Materials

This course will cover the foundational principles of designing learning materials for use in workplace training and talent development to ensure more effective learning experiences.

Prototyping for Instructional Design

This course will help you decide when and how to use prototypes to test your ideas early and often, gaining valuable feedback to shape your designs along the way.

Design Thinking for Instructional Design

Design thinking is a human-centered approach to creating solutions that address the needs of both individual learners and the organization.

Planning and Coordinating Training Events

Whether you're coordinating in-person, virtual, or asynchronous training events, this course will help you ensure these, and many more details all support your big-picture goal.

Preparing to Facilitate

This course explores effective preparation for facilitation, including understanding how your course relates to organizational goals, learning about the participants, and practicing your delivery mechanics.

Managing and Facilitating Effective Meetings

This course covers how to effectively prepare for, facilitate, and make decisions during meetings.

Facilitation Styles and Techniques

Facilitation requires rigorous preparation, a pleasant and personable demeanor, and honed skills.

Engaging and Managing Participants

Engaging and managing participants is key to effective training delivery and facilitation and helps improve learning transfer.

Creating a Positive Learning Environment

An effective learning environment should be welcoming to all.

Selecting Delivery Strategies to Support the Learning Experience

In this course, you'll explore factors and considerations that can help you select just the right strategy for these situations and more.

Applying Learning Science in Training Delivery

Possessing a clear understanding of cognitive processes allows you to deliver learning that is retained and applied on the job.

Facilitating Formal Learning

Today's environment requires skill in delivering training using multiple delivery modalities, whether in person, virtual, or a blend.

Supporting Informal Learning and Learning on the Job

When you harness the power of informal learning and learning on the job, you can provide more and richer learning opportunities than you can with formal learning alone.

Adapting Learning Materials

In this course, you will learn how to adapt learning materials when training-program factors like timing, logistics, relevance, and learning requirements change.

Creating Accessible Learning Experiences

In this course, you'll learn the foundational principles to help you create accessible, inclusive learning programs that support learners with a broad range of abilities.

Administering a Learning Technology Ecosystem

A robust, dynamic talent development department needs a robust, dynamic technology ecosystem.

Data Standard Formats

In this course, you'll learn about some of the most important data standard formats (such as SCORM and xAPI) that you can rely on to make sure your content works with the various systems in your organization.

xAPI Foundations

Using the xAPI data format lets you track valuable, detailed information that can help you track and evaluate the usage and effectiveness of your digital learning experiences.

Identifying Technology System Requirements

In this course, you'll learn to clearly identify your technology system requirements before you invest time and money in new tools.

Evaluating and Selecting E-Learning Software Tools

To create effective e-learning content, you need to find tools that meet your learning needs, technology needs, and organizational needs.

Selecting and Implementing Learning Technologies

In this course, you'll learn to take a purposeful approach to selecting and implementing learning technologies, so you can be sure they do what you need them to do.

Testing Learning Technologies

In this course, you'll explore helpful strategies for planning a solid approach that will set you up for a successful rollout.

Principles of User Interface Design

An intuitive user interface leads to a positive user experience.

Leveraging Social Media for Learning

Whether you use something as simple as an instant messaging tool or an enterprise-level rollout of a large commercial platform, you can leverage social media to accelerate social learning.

Introduction to Artificial Intelligence and Extended Reality for Learning Professionals

Artificial intelligence (AI) and extended reality (XR) have the potential to revolutionize training programs and other talent development functions.

Models and Methods to Evaluate the Impact of Learning

In this course, you'll learn about different approaches for measuring the true impact of your learning initiatives so you can understand and demonstrate their value.

Using Quantitative & Qualitative Data for Evaluating Learning

In this course, you'll learn helpful methods for analyzing and interpreting both quantitative and qualitative data in ways that can help improve your learning initiatives and increase performance.

ATD Certification

Earning an ATD certification validates your expertise, builds credibility, and distinguishes you as a leader in the talent development profession. Once you determine which certification is right for you, explore the preparation options ATD provides to help study for the exam.

CHOOSE THE RIGHT CERTIFICATION

The Associate Professional in Talent Development (APTD®) is a certification for TD professionals who are early in their careers or whose professional roles and aspirations focus on foundational areas of the field.

WHO IS IT FOR?

APTD is best suited for early career TD professionals:

- Who want to formalize and recognize their role with a certification
- With at least three years of experience

Many of our APTD candidates are "accidental trainers" without formal education in training and development.

The Certified Professional in Talent Development (CPTD®) is a certification for more experienced TD professionals. It is broad and measures a professional's knowledge and skill application across the breadth of talent development capabilities.

WHO IS IT FOR?

CPTD is best suited for seasoned TD professionals:

- Who have deep knowledge and experience enhancing employee talent development
- Who are looking to demonstrate expertise and commitment to the profession
- With at least five years of experience in workplace learning and talent development
